

Over the summer of 2020, the Justice Ministry discussed two books: White Like Me by Tim Wise and How To Be An Anti-Racist by Ibram X. Kendi. There are many books and films that can enlighten and educate us to the historical background of racism in America with the hope that we can be agents of change and bring justice to our land. Here are a few more to choose from!

- America's Original Sin – Jim Wallis
- Between the World and Me – Ta-Nehisi Coates
- Caste: The Origins of Our Discontents - Isabel Wilkerson
- Charged: The New Movement to Transform American Prosecution and End Mass Incarceration - Emily Bazelon
- I'm Not Your Negro - James Baldwin (also a 2016 documentary film)
- I'm Still Here: Black Dignity in a World Made for Whiteness - Austin Channing Brown
- Just Mercy: A Story of Justice and Redemption – Bryan Stevenson (also a 2019 film)
- Sacred Resistance: A Practical Guide to Christian Witness and Dissent – Ginger Gaines-Cirelli
- So You Want to Talk About Race – Ijeoma Oluo
- Stamped from the Beginning: The Definitive History of Racist Ideas in America - Ibram X. Kendi
- The Color of Law – Richard Rothstein
- The Cross and the Lynching Tree – James H. Cone
- The Hate You Give - Angie Thomas (also a 2018 film)
- The New Jim Crow – Michelle Alexander
- The Sun Does Shine: How I Found Life and Freedom on Death Row - Anthony Ray Hinton and Lara Love Hardin
- The Warmth of Other Suns – Isabel Wilkerson
- Things That Make White People Uncomfortable – Michael Bennett
- White Awake: An Honest look at What It Means to Be White – Daniel Hill
- White Fragility: Why It's So Hard for White People to Talk About Racism – Robin DiAngelo
- White Rage: The Unspoken Truth of Our Racial Divide – Carol Anderson